1. Overview

This Privacy Policy (the “Privacy Policy”) summarizes both the online and offline privacy practices of Altura Credit Union and its subsidiary, Auto Expert (collectively, the “Credit Union”), with respect to its websites, online and mobile banking applications, and social media pages (collectively, the “Websites”) that can be accessed on computers, tablets, mobile phones, and other devices. This Privacy Policy also covers the privacy practices of the Credit Union’s call center, branch locations, and related sites (collectively, “Operations”). By accessing any of our Websites, you acknowledge and consent to the practices set forth in the Credit Union’s Privacy Policy.

Your privacy is important to us, and the purpose of this Privacy Policy is to explain how we collect, use, share, and safeguard information when you visit our Websites.

2. Information We May Collect

When visiting our Websites or being served by our Operations, you may be asked to provide your personal information and sensitive personal information in order to apply for one of our products/services, or access our online/mobile banking applications. The information that you provide may include your name, email address, physical address, phone number, tax identification number, date of birth, and other unique identifiers.

3. Protecting Your Information

The Credit Union respects your right to privacy and recognizes the importance of protecting your personal information and sensitive personal information. To that end, we maintain administrative, technical, and physical safeguards which comply with applicable federal and state laws that govern the privacy and security of such information.

4. Sharing Your Information

The Credit Union may share your information with third parties, as permitted by applicable federal and state laws; for example, your information may be shared with third parties, such as vendors, for the purpose of responding to legal notices or administering/servicing your account. Otherwise, the Credit Union will not disclose your personally identifiable information or make available any personal information about your online activities in connection with your use of our Websites. For more information on how we may share information with affiliates and third parties, please see the additional privacy notices “California Privacy Choices for Consumers,” “Federal Privacy Policy and Opt-Out Notice,” and “Affiliate Marketing Opt-Out Notice,” which are accessible at <https://www.alturacu.com/disclosures>.

5. Cookies and “Do Not Track”

A cookie is a small piece of information that a website stores on your web browser and can later retrieve. The cookie can be read by the website that “set” the cookie and cannot be read by any other website. We use cookies to manage online banking sessions and in areas where you are able to customize the information you see. The use of these cookies is designed to make your online experience easier and more personal. You may customize your browser to inform you when cookies are set, prevent cookies from being set, or enable your web browser’s “Do Not Track” signal. We may not separately respond to or take any action with respect to a “Do Not Track” configuration set in your web browser.

6. Third Party Links

The Credit Union may include or offer third party products or services on its Websites. The websites of these third parties have separate and independent privacy policies. While we undertake every effort to keep your information secure, the Credit Union exercises no control over these third party websites, so we therefore bear no responsibility or liability for their external content and activities.

7. California Online Privacy Protection Act – Statement of Compliance

Pursuant to the California Online Privacy Protection Act, we offer several ways to review and update your information. Online users may log onto our banking platform and select the “My Settings” tab. You may also review and update your information by calling 888-883-7228, writing to P.O. Box 908, Riverside, CA, 92502, or visiting your local Credit Union branch.

8. Children’s Online Privacy Protection Act – Statement of Compliance

We do not knowingly collect personally identifiable information from individuals under the age of 13 through our Websites or mobile banking application without obtaining verifiable consent from their parents. Additional information about the Children’s Online Privacy Protection Act is available at the Federal Trade Commission’s website: www.ftc.gov.

9. California Privacy Rights Act / California Consumer Privacy Act – Statement of Compliance

Description of Your Rights: The California Privacy Rights Act (“CPRA”) / California Consumer Privacy Act (“CCPA”) confer statutory rights that provide California consumers with greater control and transparency over the use of their personal information and sensitive personal information by affected companies operating within this state. These statutory rights, include, among other things, the protections listed below. You may submit verifiable consumer requests, obtain additional information about these protections, and direct any questions to the Credit Union by email (ccparequest@alturacu.com), via telephone (888-883-7228), or in writing to Altura Credit Union P.O. Box 908, Riverside, CA 92502. Upon receipt of a verifiable consumer request for disclosures covered under CPRA / CCPA, including those seeking the correction of inaccurate personal information and the deletion of a consumer’s personal information, the Credit Union shall take the necessary steps and respond to you within the following 45 days; this time period may be extended once by an additional 45 days when reasonably necessary, as permitted by statute, and we will notify you of the extension within the original 45 day period.

- Right to Request and Receive Personal Information Disclosures under CPRA / CCPA (California Civil Code § 1798.100)

Under CPRA / CCPA, a business that controls the collection of your personal information must, at or before the point of collection, inform you about: (1) the categories of personal information to be collected and the purposes for which the categories of personal information are collected or used, and whether such personal information is sold or shared; (2) the categories of sensitive personal information to be collected and the purposes for which the categories of sensitive personal information are collected or used, and whether such information is sold or shared; and (3) the length of time the business intends to retain each category of personal information and sensitive personal information, provided that such information is not retained for longer than is reasonably necessary for the disclosed purpose for which the information was collected.

- Right to Delete Personal Information under CPRA / CCPA (California Civil Code § 1798.105)

Under CPRA / CCPA, you have the right to request the deletion of personal information that a business has collected from you. A business that collects personal information about consumers must disclose the right of consumers to request the deletion of their personal information. Accordingly, a business that receives a verifiable consumer request for deletion must delete your personal information from its records and direct any service providers to delete your personal information from their records. Certain exceptions apply to these requests. A business or a service provider is not required to comply with your request to delete your personal information if it is reasonably necessary for the business or service provider to maintain your personal information in order to: (1) complete the transaction for which the personal information was collected, fulfill the terms of a written warranty or product recall conducted in accordance with federal law, provide a good or service that you requested, or reasonably anticipated by the consumer within the context of a business's ongoing business relationship with you, or otherwise perform a contract between the business and you; (2) help to ensure security and integrity to the extent that the use of your personal information is reasonably necessary and proportionate for those purposes; (3) debug to identify and repair errors that impair existing intended functionality; (4) exercise free speech, ensure the right of another consumer to exercise his or her right of free speech, or exercise another right provided for by law; (5) comply with the California Electronic Communications Privacy Act pursuant to Chapter 3.6 (commencing with Section 1546) of Title 12 of Part 2 of the California Penal Code; (6) engage in public or peer-reviewed scientific, historical, or statistical research that adheres to all other applicable ethics and privacy laws, when the deletion of your information is likely to render impossible or seriously impair the ability to complete such research, if you have provided informed consent; (7) to enable solely internal uses that are reasonably aligned with your expectations based on your relationship with the business and compatible with the context in which you provided the information; or (8) comply with a legal obligation.

- Right to Correct Inaccurate Personal Information under CPRA / CCPA (California Civil Code § 1798.106)

Under CPRA / CCPA, you have the right to request the correction of any inaccurate personal information, taking into account the nature of the personal information and the purposes of the processing of the personal information. Upon receiving a verifiable consumer request to correct inaccurate personal information, we shall use commercially reasonable efforts to make any necessary correction(s), as directed by the consumer.

- Right to Know what Personal Information is Being Collected and Right to Access Personal Information (California Civil Code § 1798.110)

Under CPRA / CCPA, you have the right to request that a business that collects your personal information disclose the following information: (1) the categories of personal information it has collected about consumers; (2) the categories of sources from which the personal information is collected; (3) the business or commercial purpose for collecting, selling, or sharing personal information; (4) the categories of third parties to whom the business discloses personal information; and (5) the specific pieces of personal information it has collected about you. A business that collects your personal information must disclose, pursuant to paragraph (3) of subdivision (a) of California Civil Code § 1798.130, the information cited above upon receipt of a verifiable consumer request. A business that collects your personal information must disclose, pursuant to subparagraph (B) of paragraph (5) of subdivision (a) of California Civil Code § 1798.130 the information cited above.

- Right to Know what Personal Information is Sold or Shared, and to Whom (California Civil Code § 1798.115)

Under CPRA / CCPA, you have the right to request that a business that sells your personal information, shares your personal information, or discloses it for a business purpose, inform you of: (1) the categories of personal information that the business collected about you; (2) the categories of personal information that the business sold or shared about you and the categories of third parties to whom the personal information was sold or shared; and (3) the categories of personal information that the business disclosed about you for a business purpose, and the categories of persons to whom it was disclosed for a business purpose. A business that sells or shares your personal information, or that discloses your personal information for a business purpose, must disclose, pursuant to paragraph (4) of subdivision (a) of California Civil Code § 1798.130, the information cited above upon receipt of a verifiable consumer request. A business that sells or shares your personal information, or that discloses your personal information for a business purpose, must disclose, pursuant to subparagraph (C) of paragraph (5) of subdivision (a) of California Civil Code § 1798.130: (1) the category or categories of consumers' personal information it has sold or shared, or if the business has not sold consumers' personal information, it must disclose that fact; and (2) the category or categories of consumers' personal information it has disclosed for a business purpose, or if the business has not disclosed the consumers' personal information for a business purpose, it must disclose that fact. Under CPRA / CCPA, a third party is prohibited from selling personal information about a consumer that has been sold to the third party by a business unless the consumer has received explicit notice and is provided an opportunity to exercise the right to opt-out pursuant to California Civil Code § 1798.120. Please note that the Credit Union does not sell your personal information and sensitive personal information.

- Right to Opt-Out of the Sale or Sharing of Personal Information: Under CPRA / CCPA, you have the right, at any time, to direct a business that sells or shares your personal information not to sell or share your personal information. This right may be referred to as the "Right to Opt-Out of Sale or Sharing." If a business has received direction from you not to sell or share your personal information, the business is prohibited from selling or sharing your personal information after its receipt of your direction, unless you subsequently provide your consent to sell or share your personal information. In the case of a minor consumer, the business is prohibited from selling or sharing the minor's personal information if it has not received consent to do so.
- Right to Limit Use and Disclosure of Sensitive Personal Information under CPRA / CCPA (California Civil Code § 1798.121)

Under CPRA / CCPA, you have the right, at any time, to direct a business that collects sensitive personal information about the consumer to limit its use of the consumer's sensitive personal information to the use(s) necessary to: (1) perform the services or provide the goods reasonably expected by an average consumer who requests such goods or services; (2) effectuate the business purpose of helping to ensure security and integrity to the extent the use of the consumer’s personal information is reasonably necessary and proportionate for that purpose; (3) meet the business purpose of short-term and transient use, including, but not limited to non-personalized advertising shown as part of your current interaction with the Credit Union; (4) fulfill the business purpose for the Credit Union’s performance services, including maintaining or servicing your account, providing customer service, processing or fulfilling orders or transactions, verifying your customer information, processing payments, providing financing, providing analytic services, providing storage, or providing similar services; and (5) achieve the business purpose of undertaking activities to verify or maintain the quality or safety of a service or device that is owned, manufactured, manufactured for, or controlled by the Credit Union, and to improve, upgrade, or enhance the service or device owned, manufactured, manufactured for, or controlled by the Credit Union.

- Right of Non-Retaliation Following Opt-Out of Exercise of Other Rights under CPRA / CCPA (California Civil Code § 1798.125)

Under CPRA / CCPA, a business must not discriminate against you because you exercised any of your rights under the CPRA / CCPA; these prohibited discriminatory acts include, and are not limited to: (1) denying goods or services to you; (2) charging different prices or rates for goods or services, including through the use of discounts or other benefits or imposing penalties; (3) providing a different level or quality of goods or services to you; (4) suggesting that you will receive a different price or rate for goods or services or a different level or quality of goods or services; and (5) retaliating against an employee, applicant for employment, or independent contractor for exercising their rights under CPRA / CCPA.
